

Student View

As an instructor, you want to be confident that your course is well designed and functions as intended before your students see it. Use the Student View to review the course content and validate the course behaviors, such as those that control the availability of course content or require a particular interaction from the student to be triggered. While in Student View mode, you experience your course exactly as your students do and can do the following student activities:

- Submit Assignments
- Take Tests
- Create Blog and Discussion Posts
- Create Journal and Wiki Entries
- View student tools, such as My Grades

Note: Student View is different from using Edit Mode. When Edit Mode is ON, you see all the course content and the editing controls for each item. Edit Mode OFF hides the editing controls but still displays any content that would normally be hidden from a student. Also, it does not enable you to see student-only content, such as My Grades.

Once you click the Student View from the Course Tools list, you will be viewing your course just as a student would be viewing it.

Student View (continued)

You will notice that a new user (Demo User) now appears in the course roster as well as your Grade Center and is visible to all students enrolled in the course.

Grade Information Bar
	Last Name	First Name	Username	Student ID	Last Access	Availability	Weighted Total	Total
<input type="checkbox"/>					June 27, 2014	Available	--	--
<input type="checkbox"/>					July 9, 2014	Available	--	--
<input type="checkbox"/>					August 6, 2014	Available	--	--
<input type="checkbox"/>					August 11, 2014	Available	--	--
<input type="checkbox"/>	User	Demo	bb_demo_57558		August 11, 2014	Available	--	--

You are now able to function within your course as an enrolled student would be able to. When you are complete reviewing the Student View function, click Teacher View to return to the instructors functions.

