“What I loved the most about Kent State was getting to meet and study with people from all over the globe. Every day I discovered something else from a different culture by interacting with staff, professors, and students. I chose to study a master’s in the United States to improve my career prospects and develop new skills in my profession. I was searching for a school that had a balance between technique, creativity, theory, and innovation—Kent State provides the perfect balance between all of those.”

Master’s degree in architecture from Kent State University.
