About Today's Speaker

Christi Eberhardt resides in Richfield, Ohio with her husband Greg and three children Sam (17), Ben (15) and Emily (13). Christi is a Behavior Specialist and specializes in working with children with Autism.

In her free time Christi enjoys watching her kids do what they love - sports. It is year-round travel for her family with football, baseball, gymnastics and cheer.

Christi's passion for educating others on the importance of CPR and Heart Disease began in 2006 when her own journey started with heart disease. Christi will share her incredible story of survival and where her journey has taken her along the way - including starting her own support group for those affected by cardiac arrest and heart disease and advocating for training in CPR.
