Test Scantron Survey

The existing Scantron (Bubblesheet grading) system is nearing end of life. The University Council on Technology (UCT) is discussing if the system needs to be replaced and if it is replaced what type of system would people prefer. This survey is being used to gather information to assist the UCT in it's deliberations.

Are you currently using the Scantron (Bubblesheet Grading) System?

- ☐ Yes
☐ No

Have you ever used the Scantron (Bubblesheet grading) System?

- ☐ Yes
☐ No

If the Scantron (Bubblesheet Grading) system were no longer available you would

- ☐ Use Blackboard Learn utilizing Respondus lockdown browser for administer tests allowing students to take the tests at home
☐ Use Blackboard Learn utilizing Respondus lockdown browser to administer tests but require a proctored environment where the students would take the test
☐ Use Blackboard Learn without Respondus lockdown browser for administer tests allowing students to take the tests at home
☐ Use Blackboard Learn without Respondus lockdown browser to administer tests but require a proctored environment where the students would take the test
☐ Choose a different form of testing rather than multiple choice
☐ Use paper and pencil multiple choice test.
☐ Not have a good option for testing.

If the Scantron (Bubblesheet Grading) System were replaced you would prefer:

- ☐ The current centralized system (requires less knowledge to use)
☐ A distributed system with forms created and scanned directly by instructors at local printers / scanners (required more knowledge to use)
