Refer to Ph.D. Handbook www.kent.edu/ehhs/ogs/doctoral-students for details on rules and requirements for doctoral study including the purpose of the prospectus; the advisory phase of doctoral study; committee roles, selection, and composition; comprehensive exam process; and candidacy phase (dissertation sequence and components). You are expected to meet with your advisor, co-advisors, or prospectus committee each semester. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss course registration for the following semester and to make any necessary adjustments in your prospectus. You have 9 years to complete your Ph.D. program. This time limit begins when you take your first course toward the degree; or if you are seeking to transfer courses, your time limit begins with the earliest of those transferred courses. Kent State University requires Ph.D. students to complete a minimum of 90 hours beyond the bachelor's degree and 60 hours beyond the master's degree.
