 PM airport.

Dear Sir:

I am active at my church and have a regular church commitment each Wednesday evening, so I have not been able to attend any of the KSU Airport Master Plan meetings. I am writing to tell you what the airport means to my family and to let you know that we hope that you can finalize plans to keep it where it is - it is so wonderful to have it nearby!

Please pass my message to those who are working to develop the 20 year plan.

We live near the airport and my 4 year-old grandson and I often visit. We attend many events at the airport as a family, including plane rides, Aviation Day, the 4th of July car show, etc. For us, the airport adds so much to our quality of life. We like to see and hear the planes fly, and have many "special" times together at the airport. We live close enough that we can walk to see Runway the cat, and the many pleasant pilots and visitors, young and old.

We had taken an airplane ride from the KSU airport in 1989, prior to moving to Stow. Therefore, we knew that the airport was near when we bought our home in 1991. We were thrilled to purchase our home so near to the airport. And we have enjoyed every minute living here.

Stow is very lucky to have the airport. It offers many educational opportunities. It offers value to the area. And it is unique. How many towns the size of Stow have an event like Aviation Day? I cannot think of any. And how many have F-15 fly-bys? And the war birds? Elvis? The children's activities? We are truly blessed. I can only hope the "Taste of Stow" develops further to become a truly rewarding culinary experience for all.

Enough said. We like the airport where it is and want it to stay. We enjoy the fine people who make it pleasant for us to visit.

Thank you for your assistance with this matter.

Best regards,

Al Harrison and Family

Good afternoon Nancy,

Thank you for your comments and concerns. I will forward your comments to Tom Clapper.

We look forward to seeing you at the next public meeting scheduled for Wednesday, February 18 and Thursday, February 19, both meetings begin at 7:00 pm at Stow City Hall. The same topic will be covered at both meetings, we scheduled two meetings because of high number of anticipated attendees.

Dear Ms. Adams:

I would like to suggest at the next meetings regarding the airport survey, please have people step forward, give their name and address, and speak into a microphone so all attendees can hear the questions. The audience at the previous meetings have been very disruptive making it difficult for the audience to hear answers. This might also eliminate the same people monopolizing the meeting. Everyone in Stow is not opposed to airport expansion. I fear moving the flight training program will be the demise of the airport. The City of Stow does not have the resources to handle the residential development of the airport acreage. Please take into consideration Stow residents knew the airport was there when they purchased their homes or land. If you have attended a meeting, you know those in favor are wise enough not to speak openly on their stance because it would only create more problems and disruptions.

Thank you,
Nancy Kroft

Ladies and Gentlemen as you know the KSU airport's future is in jeopardy, and I am asking that you make sure that KSU airport lives to see another plane land. It is not just important to aviation but it is important to all the KSU & Commercial Aviation students who earned their wings at such a magnificent airport. Why close such a historically significant airport? There is no reason to do such a thing, the airport was there way before most if all of the houses & businesses that surround the airport. Personally there is no greater thrill than to cross over route 59 at about 80ft and make a landing on runway 19. I bet you could ask anybody at the airport if they like what I just mentioned and you would get a yes as there response. Thank you for your time and pleas keep 1G3 alive!!

I recently became aware of KSU Airport's peril through a recent AOPA pilot meeting. Although I'm not a local pilot (I live in North Royalton, OH) I do fly into KSU Airport fairly regularly when I fly for the CAP (Civil Air Patrol) with Cadets as part of the Orientation Flight program (O-Flights). In addition to their CAP O-Flight credit I usually sign them up for EAA Young Eagles Credit! In addition to it being an easy flight from Cuyahoga County Airport (where our CAP C-172 is based), KSU Airport always seems to have friendly people around for the Kids to interact with. These are all highly motivated teenaged kids with a keen interest in aviation just a few years from entering college. On more than one occasion when the parents found out we were going to KSU Airport, they would say "we didn't know KSU had an airport or an Aviation Program." While I'm not saying that every kid that flies into KSU Airport will apply for admission, this airport, just by its existence, can be considered a marketing and recruiting tool for the University. Recently, the theory of non-linear systems, i.e. the "butterfly effect" has been much in vogue. I'm afraid that what would appear to be a straight forward cost cutting exercise in disposing of "excess airport land" may have future unintended consequences for the institution. It would be a shame to see a fine flying field disappear.

I've spent 20 years as a Stow resident and another 8 as a Munroe Falls resident all of which has been under the flight path of the KSU airport operations. In addition to living in the vicinity of the airport I'm also a graduate of the Kent State Flight Program and now fly for a major airline out of Cleveland. I wouldn't be where I am today if it wasn't for the Kent State airport being a part of the Stow community. I remember visiting the airport with school groups as a child as well as attending airshows and firework displays. With the success of Aviation Day that tradition for Stow/Munroe Falls residents and their families is continuing.

Beyond my own personal history with the airport, the Kent State airport is a piece of Aviation History that shouldn't be casually tossed aside. When Kent State purchased the airport they became the curator for a piece of history. Stow history must be preserved especially when it's a piece of operating history such as this airport.

We've all watched over the last decade as the remaining open pieces of land have been replaced with homes and businesses. With the development of the Call Farm, the Kent State Airport is one of the last few pieces of open land left. We don't need another commerce park or housing development here.

I'm well aware of the negative reaction from a small percentage of the Stow/Munroe Falls residents for both keeping the airport or giving it small improvements. I can also say from hearing them state their cases in person at the City Hall meetings that most have spent less than 5 years in our city. It was their choice to live in close proximity to the airport. Their obvious expectations that the airport would be removed in a few years or that it would never grow or improve its facilities shows ignorance. It became clear that they never personally researched the airport operations prior to moving to the old Pambi Farm location. In less than 5 years they are demanding the removal of an airport that the rest of us have been living next to for over 20 years?!

It also became clear in those meetings that they don't understand the implications of airport improvements. Continually in print I'm see outcry at widening the runway. I can tell you a several thousand hour pilot that runway length is the only deciding factor when it comes to landing an aircraft. Width provides a margin of safety but doesn't permit larger aircraft to land.

The aviation community as well is watching closely. We all saw the black eye that Mayor Daly gave his city by shutting down Meigs Field in Chicago. Don't bring the same negative criticism to my community or my alma mater.

As an alumnus of the Kent State Aviation program, seeing the airport close would be devastating. You can easily count my support and funding to go somewhere OTHER than Kent State University if a program like this disappears and/or moves to another locale. Additionally, as a member of the Air Line Pilots Association, I will see to it that my representation will voice my opinion many thousands of times over.

The Kent State University Airport should stay. It gives the flight technology people and others a place close to home to practice flight. I know that many students would be upset if the airport had to stop operation. Also since it has been around for so long, it is almost like a landmark. And as far as the Stow Community is concerned; if the airport has been around since 1917 then there obviously people in past had no huge problem with the airport being there.

The Kent State Airport is a wonderful airport. My father and his wife tied down there just before Thanksgiving a couple of years ago. The weather turned bad and we went to check on his plane (an experimental two-seater) and found that the airport personnel had kindly moved his plane into the hanger out of the foul weather. I for one hope that the airport remains open.

Mr. Clapper,

I don't know what your plans are for the airport but I would prefer for the school to stay and for you to make whatever improvements you deem necessary for the airport.

Last night, I went to a meeting of the opposition group (C.A.F.E.). There were only 18 people there when I left and that was at 7:00 P.M. when the meeting started. Then, I was asked by one of the members why I was leaving. I told him that I was for the airport and he said he was too but he didn't want to see the runway widened. He then went into a dissertation about what requirements were needed at the airport. I don't know everything about aviation. Afterall, I'm just an armchair pilot but I fly too much for my job to just sit idly by and allow your decisions to be chosen by a small group of angry people. If the students at Kent State University want to be taught how to fly then I want them to learn in Stow.

Thank you,

Mr. Dwenger Thank you very much for your comments regarding the Airport Master Plan. Your comments will be included in the report.

Public input is a vital component of the Master Plan process. However, the facts are the guiding principals of successful planning. We first completed the Forecast Report to identify aviation demand over the next twenty years and what improvements are needed to accommodate the aviation forecast demand. From this we developed a wide series of alternatives and are examining each alternative with the same goals in mind. How best to meet aviation demand in a fiscally responsible, environmentally compatible and politically acceptable manner? These are the guiding principals to any successful Airport Master Plan.

Again, thank you for your comments.

 Subject: OPTION #1B PLEASE!

To: KSU Flight School Decision Makers

One of the reasons we bought the lot we did and built our home in Pambi Farm Estates was because of the airport. We enjoy watching the airplanes take off and land from our backyard as do our neighbors.

Please do not be steamrolled by a few extremely vocal opponents into relocating the airport. We are sure you can find people who live in Pambi who oppose option #1B, but they would be a very few and we have yet to meet any. All of the neighbors we have spoken with thoroughly enjoy having the airport in our backyards, or we would have not built our homes here. It is obvious that the opposition to the airport have no true understanding of aviation. No one made these misguided individuals buy their homes near the airport.

Thank you for all your hard work in this tough process. You have listened to all the people concerned and have been more than fair by eliminating the other airport expansion options. It is time you know that there are those of us who love the airport and think that the flight school is a good neighbor. Please do not move the flight school. Please vote for OPTION # 1B.

Thank you.

Hello,

I am a pilot for Express Jet Airlines d.b.a. Continental Express, I also graduated from the Flight Program from Kent State. That program was a wonderful. It prepared me fully for the airline job. It would be a shame if the airport were to be shut down or not allowed to grow to increase the options for the students going through the program tomorrow.

Also I live off of state route 59 (less than 2 miles from the airport). I fully support the expansion of the Kent State Airport.

The KSU Airport is a vital part to the continuance of aviation education and that field in particular has contributed to an aviation heritage unseen by the average citizen. KSU has an incredible reputation in the airline industry and given the mega-supported aviation schools of Florida and other universities that have large programs, it is this small uncontrolled field that has earned a four star reputation in Ohio, incidently the birth place of aviation. Travesty could only be the word to describe the situation if KSU closed the airport and shut of the beacon.

As a graduate of the Kent State University Flight Program and as a resident of Stow that happens to live close enough to be within the traffic pattern for the airport, I would love to see the Kent State Airport not only stay open, but to increase it's runway length and make some much needed improvements. I have many fond memories of going to watch the airplanes take off and land when I was a child growing up in Stow and it fueled my interest and desire when I went to College to take up aviation. The airport has been here long before many of the new houses have been there so I can't quite understand why people would move close to an airport and then complain about it. It doesn't make sense.

Thank You very very very much. Do you think a petition of the stow citizens could save the airport woods atleast, if they decide to take them down? I know it would take a lot but I feel that if anything happens the woods should be preserved & so should the airport, it's so involved in this community it would be such a great loss for us to loose it.

Dear Heather:

I've been fine Heather and thanks for the email. I hope you and your family are doing as well. I too have always enjoyed the deer and the other animals at the airport.

There were about 75 people at the meeting last evening. Those people represented a wide range of views in regards to the airport. The main purpose of last nights meeting was to discuss chapters 1 thru 3 of the master plan. In essence these chapters are an inventory of current facilities and usage, and a forecast of the usage of the airport over the next 20 years. The Airport Master Planning Committee is using this information and comments from area residents, like yourself, to formulate several different options for the airport. Each of those options will be examined in detail. A preferred alternative will then be selected that best serves the aviation and local communities.

The next public airport master planning meeting will be held at 7:00 PM on January 21, 2004. During this meeting the alternatives will be presented and discussed in detail. The draft versions of the Airport Master Plan are available on our website www.kent.edu/airport/MasterPlan.cfm.

I encourage you to attend. Please ask you mom for a ride. I look forward to seeing you at the next meeting.

Hi Dennis, how have you been? Last night there was that city council meeting to go over the airport plans and I couldn't make it because my mom wouldn't drive me because I told her short-notice. Could you please let me know what side the people are leaning towards? expansion or selling? Because if we sell everyone knows that land will be destroyed- the last nice land in stow!

Stow is becoming so city like that it's disgusting! Recently, since we live on the other side of your airport woods - (which we absolutely love and my heart will break if they're cut) we've been finding a lot of deer... they'll stand at the edge of the woods and frolick around etc. My neighbor even saw an 8pt. buck a couple weeks ago! There are so many animals in those woods... and no place for them to go. Everynight I pray that the airport won't shut down, but I don't think their planes should get much louder either... hmm.. please just let me know. Thank You soooooo much for your time! You're the best!

Thank You so much for your effort and time I really appreciate it. So you're saying the woods aren't really safe either way? When I said "Are there any barriers protecting the woods?" previously, by barriers I meant is there any document stating that the woods cannot be cut down or transformed. These woods are very important to alot of animals and if they're cut down those animals have no place to go- this is where my concern is. The west woods that you speak of are those accross the streat from KS Airport, on the other side of Kent Rd. correct?

Thanks again,

Heather Thank you very much for your comments regarding the Kent State Airport Master Plan. You have stated good questions

Regarding the wooded area should the airport expand or sell. We are now preparing the Analysis of Alternatives report. This document reviews the various options. Any expansion of the runway would be on a North/South axis and would not directly impact wooded area to the west of the runway. However a component of the Master Plan considers additional facilities to support the airport activities. These facilities could be located in wooded area to the west of the runway. The wooded area to the north of the airport could be impacted should extension of runway to the north be deemed the best alternative for the twenty year planning horizon.

The analysis of alternatives will be discussed at a public meeting January 21, 7pm, Stow City Hall. We plan to have this chapter of the Master Plan report posted on the University Airport web site by January 5, 2004.

I can not address your question regarding the woods should the airport be relocated. The Master Plan looks for the best 20 year option for improving aviation and meeting community needs. Should the analysis reveal that a relocation of air activities is the best option further studies would be required.

Regarding your question on acreage of wooded area on the airport. I do not have surveyed information, looking at aerial photo's however I would guess that the wooded area to the west of the runway is about 30 acres. There are additional wooded areas that abut the airport property that I have not factored in. The wooded area to the north of the runway is about 15 acres.

Regarding your question about how many deer live in these woods. I have no idea. Safety at the airport is our number one priority at all times. We continually watch for deer in the area with the safety concern that deer may enter onto the runway during a take-off or landing.

Regarding your question on barriers protecting these woods if the airport is relocated. I am unsure what you mean by "barriers."

Again, thank you for your comments regarding the Airport Master Plan.

Ms. Adams,

I am in receipt of a flyer I found in my mailbox this morning concerning the proposed changes at KSU's airport.

I don't know if you have a copy of same or have heard of its' content but I see an enormous amount of emotions and statement without fact. While I have no problem with anyway voicing their opinions on the matter, I do find it unsettling to embroider the truth and facts in order to further someone's position.

I don't recall this airport ever being used for commercial aircraft and by that I mean 30 plus passenger capacity. The flying school and FBO currently at the airport simply do not have enough aircraft to support take-offs and landings every few minutes as stated.

Although this airport is not attended 24 hours a day, planes routinely now stop for gas and go on their way so this is nothing new or a problem.

Inasmuch as there is noise abatement in effect I for one living next to this facility have no problem with noise as I was made aware of this fact before moving to this area. I am sure the people of Pambi farms were aware of it as well and still chose to reside there. If the noise is as much as a problem as stated, I would first like to see the figures backing up their claims for excessive noise. I would suggest my neighbor's riding mower makes more ambient noise than an aircraft flying thru the runways clear zone at 800 feet.

I will look forward to the proceedings to come and unlike the person who published the flyer, I make my observations as a pilot of 28 years and an FAA Certified Flight Dispatcher.

To be fair and honest in dealing with this matter the provision under review now should have been presented and not just the worst case scenario intended to present this as the only option[s] available.

I closing, I am in favor of the facility remaining as it is with modest improvements and against the so called special interest groups lobbying for closure. I believe a considerable amount of money was already spent on this facility and wonder how the opponents intend to return that money to the FAA?

Sincerely,
Gregg Gary

Where can I obtain more information of alternative #6 given that that draft plan involves my property and homestead on Stroup Road in Edinburg. According the Record Courier, Thomas Clapper was quoted as saying this alternative is in because "it was an FAA requirement of us to look at a new site."  Subject: Kent State Airport Master Plan

Dear Sir and Madam:

I am one resident of Stow who is 100% behind keeping the airport in Stow and improving it's operation by supporting the widening of the runway to 75 feet. The airport is, has been and should remain a part of Stow. I have not heard one good argument for moving the airport. Kent State University is being fiscally responsible by using existing property and facilities. With tuition constantly rising I applaud the university for trying to keep cost manageable. More use of the airport can surly result in more or sustained jobs for our area. And widening the runway improves the safety of all flight operations. From my observations, Kent State University is trying to do the right thing for the university, it's students and the surrounding community.

The people who complain about the noise and increase in flights have no logical argument to move the airport. The airport was here long before most of the complainers ever moved here. That means the airplanes and noise was here when the complainers decided to move here, they knew exactly what they were buying into. Now they decide they don't like it. Typical for too many people in our society who don't want to take responsibility for their actions. When you purchase a home in the vicinity of an airport, you have to take responsibility for your actions and live with the consequences. I for one, knew exactly what I was in for, enjoy having the planes fly over my house and want the airport to stay. If the noise or amount of traffic becomes too much, I will move.

Please do not cave in to the people who are unhappy with their surroundings.

It was their choice, they are responsible for their actions, you are not. Please keep the airport in Stow and approve the universities plan to widen the runway. Thank You!

Sincerely,

Daniel P. Young

Dear Tom Clapper and KSU airport associates,

February - 2004

We, the citizens of Stow, Ohio have put together this petition to take a stand in the "Airport Master Plan." We feel that there have been some careless ideas and would like to inform you of our views. There have been absolutely no barriers to protect the nearly forty-five acres of woods that you own. There are thirty acres in one area and fifteen in the other, both areas are important to all of us- whether we recognize it or not.

If the airport expands we ask you to not expand on this territory:

1. There aren't many more wooded areas in Stow and these woods have become home to many animals including a lot of deer. If you were to cut these down the animals would lose their habitats and happen upon airport runways and homes thus causing further problems.
2. If KSU airport were to close and sell its land- these wooded areas would eventually turn into more housing developments, a golf course, or another worthless building.
 - a. In Stow we have three golf courses: Fox Den, Leisure Time, and Roses Run- we have no desire to have another one.
 - b. As for housing developments, they're popping up everywhere and destroying most of the wooded areas left in Stow- making your forty-five acres worth even more to our community.
 - c. Stow is pretty much a city-like community- we have many major businesses here and plenty of them- a mall or other stores would be convenient, but that's selfish, we don't want to see a needless business ruin the lives of many animals and wild life just for our conceited pleasure.

We realize that many of Stow's citizens are worried about their property value depreciating and that you are trying to accommodate to their wishes, but please consider our proposition and how many people/citizens are concerned and affected. In the long run these forty-five acres of woods will become better valued than those homes anyways. Later on people will praise you for your efforts in keeping the woods preserved, but no one will take the time to thank you for "saving" their homes (it's too easily forgotten). It's not just forty-five acres of trees- it's forty-five acres of true beauty (which is very hard to find in today's world), wonderful creatures, exotic plants, and life.

This petition has been compiled by the ECS (Environmentally Concerned Students) club at Stow-Munroe Falls High School so that we can take a stand. Not enough people take action; we want to make a difference... Think of how wonderful it would be to have the last standing woods in Stow, Ohio. Wooded areas are depleting all over- don't you get sad when you see Mother Nature being destroyed? Well, we do! Come on Stow- this is your chance! YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE! Help protect the true America, do what's best for us as a whole, not what suits you!

Truly,
Stow Citizens

April 21, 2004

Thank you for considering this petition; I really appreciate all that you have been going through to include Stow in the Master Plan. In all, 404 Stow citizens signed this petition. There had been a few of us taking it around, thus there are several pages numbered alike. The results would have been much higher if we had been given more time. Very few people were against this petition- most of them thought it was a great idea and often times steered people to the petitioners to sign.

Once again, thank you very much and please, think about these woods- all we want are the woods to be safe, all 45 acres- please, for you, for us, for our city, for our world! We love those woods, everyone does, it would be so tragic if they were ever to be destroyed, let alone one tree- they make a difference. Believe.

Thank You!!!

Sincerely,

Heather Peters

Dear Ms. Adams:

I am writing you due to my concern about the possibility of Kent State University Flight School joining the Portage County Airport.

We are residents of Shalersville, Ohio. We moved to this area to get away from the noise of the city. We thought we had found the perfect place to live and raise our family. As we look at the possibility of Kent State University Flight School moving to the Portage County Airport, we find this distressing news. The potential growth of the airport with the possibility of larger aircraft would affect our lives in the most devastating way. It has been said that the flight school from Kent State University will expand 40 percent over the next 20 years with increased flight activity and possibly LARGER AIRCRAFT using the airport. It would take away from the serenity of our home and the way we dreamed of bringing up our family in a quiet and calm environment.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter. I would appreciate your support in keeping Shalersville and surrounding areas as undisturbed by noise and air traffic as possible.

Please find attached an article regarding the move of the flight school.

Sincerely,

The Gauntner Family

Dear Gauntner Family:

Thank you for your letter regarding the Kent State University Airport Master Plan and specifically, consideration of Alternative 7, Relocation of Air Activities.

Your letter will be included in the public comment section of the report. Should further consideration be given to relocation of air activities to the Portage County Airport in Shalersville, a series of additional planning activities will be required, including environmental impact study and public input.

Again, thank you for your comments.

Sincerely,
