Great Reading Ideas Workshop, 2014-2015

Earn Graduate Credit

If you have a GREAT READING IDEA that never really got off the ground, Kent State University is here to help. Those attending the Reading Conference on October 31st who wish to earn one hour of graduate credit may begin that process by registering for the follow-up workshop titled “GREAT READING IDEAS.”

1. Attend the Reading Conference on October 31 and submit the online workshop registration form by Friday, November 14, 2014. See registration details below.

2. Create an independent research project implementing one or more of your GREAT READING IDEAS in your own classroom or school district under Kent State University supervision. Your independent project will require 20-25 hours of work.

3. Submit project proposal idea to Dr. Timothy Rasinski trasinsk@kent.edu by January 15, 2015.

4. Attend a follow-up session at White Hall on Saturday, March 14, 2015 from 9:00 – Noon to report on your project.

5. Final project due May 1, 2015.

Return the form by November 15, 2014 via email at pd@kent.edu or by mail to:

The GREAT READING IDEAS workshop registration form can be found at: http://www.kent.edu/ehhs/pd/conferences.cfm. Cost is $150 for 1 graduate credit.
